THE CALL FOR ABSTRACTS IS NOW OPEN AND WILL CLOSE ON 28TH JUNE

Are you joining us for Toppersides UK 2024? We are gearing up for an energised event that promises to facilitate important conversations and spark innovation in the ever-evolving landscape of offshore energy. Our annual conference isn't just a gathering; it's a rallying cry for the industry to come together and steer the course towards a sustainable energy future. This year we're tackling two crucial pillars head-on: Energy Security and Emissions Reduction.

We recognise the urgent need for the oil and gas sector to embrace the energy transition. It's not just about meeting current demands but about shaping a future that's both sustainable and secure. By focusing on topsides we're delving into the very core of offshore energy, seeking ways to optimise efficiency, reduce carbon footprints, and embrace cleaner energy solutions extending the assets life span, for a safe and productive future. From cutting-edge technologies to innovative strategies, our conference is full of ideas, expertise, and collaboration.

Why should you be a part of Toppersides UK? Because you won't just be attending another event; you'll be actively shaping the future of offshore energy. Whether you are representing an operator, showcasing innovation from within the supply chain, or are an advocate for sustainability, Toppersides UK offers a platform for meaningful dialogue, shared learning, networking opportunities, and actionable insights. Join us as we navigate the seas of change, energising the North Sea and beyond towards a brighter, greener future.

FOCUS AREAS

The conference committee are inviting potential speakers from all sizes of organisations to submit a 200-word abstract to be considered for a 20-minute presentation. For 2024 all exhibitors will be given a 5-minute techbyte slot to ensure the innovations and capabilities of the supply chain are being shared with the wider industry.

The committee would like to request abstracts including case studies, lessons learned, innovations and other relevant topics from within the following subject areas:

1 Innovation — Examples of innovative technology, products or services being implemented to deliver tangible impact to energy security or emissions reduction.

2 Collaboration — Examples of projects or technology deployments involving multiple parties where collaborative partnership has allowed for energy security or emissions reduction success to be delivered.

3 Digitalisation — Examples of digital solutions being deployed to new or existing energy security or emissions reduction challenges facing the North Sea.

4 Asset Integrity — With a focus on the ever-changing balance of cost, efficiency, safety and environmental performance, we want success stories of how we ensure our assets are in optimum condition for current and future operation.

5 Decarbonisation — Examples of how to achieve and exceed North Sea emissions targets.

We encourage submissions that fit within any or all of the above core topics, including technology, service or skills driven solutions that add value to the topsides community. Projects can be greenfield or brownfield, with a key focus on providing energy security and emissions reduction on our journey to a decarbonised basin.

The call for abstracts is now open and will close on 28th June.

If you have knowledge and experience to share, then we would like to invite you to submit your 200-word abstract for consideration for the 2024 conference programme.

To submit your proposed presentation please fill out this form.

Full SPE papers are not essential.
