Now in its 14th year, the SPE Well Decom conference unites energy professions specialising in decommissioning and late-life operations from leading operators, service providers, academic and regulatory bodies.

Now in its 14th year, the SPE Well Decom conference unites energy professions specialising in decommissioning and late-life operations from leading operators, service providers, academic and regulatory bodies.

Decommissioning can ensure that the UK's world-leading supply chain is equipped to help operators clean up their oil and gas infrastructure over the next 50 years and support the carbon storage sector, which will rely on many of the same resources. The forecast cost of decommissioning from the start of 2023 onwards is now £43bn in 2023 prices, with well decommissioning work being the most expensive aspect of decommissioning at £11bn over the next 9 years alone. This includes planned well decommissioning activities on ~1,300 platform wells and ~700 subsea wells during this period according to the NSTA Decommissioning cost and performance update 2024.

At this conference, delegates will discover the latest in well decommissioning by exploring success stories, case histories and lessons learned with energy experts from across the energy sector.

The themes for 2025 will include but will not be limited to:

- New technologies, novel approaches and alternative designs
- Teaching old technology new tricks
- Contracting strategies for well decommissioning scopes
- Lessons learned from completed worksopes: highlights and hinderances
- Risk based approaches to collaboration
- Through-tubing; where are we now and what still needs to be done
- Managing legacy wells in the energy transition
- Understanding and managing sustained annulus pressure in well decommissioning
- Vessel-based, rigless and rig-based well decommissioning
- The use of data, digital and AI in well decommissioning
- Legislation, liabilities and legal ramifications
- Insights from academia

Abstracts are welcome from the UKCS and also lessons learned from other areas.

PRESENTATION FORMAT AND WHAT'S REQUIRED:

- A short 200-word abstract detailing the title and presenter's details submitted by 31st January.
- Format – 20 minutes plus Q&A or 5-minute techbyte (sales oriented pitches).
- We encourage innovative presenting styles, not necessarily PowerPoint slides.
- Case histories and collaborations are encouraged.

HOW TO SUBMIT YOUR ABSTRACT

Send your short 200 word abstract in a word document format by email to: aberdeen.events@spe-uk.org

SPONSORSHIP

SPE Aberdeen is a not-for-profit organisation. Raising sponsorship is crucial to help us ensure that this conference continues to be an affordable and valuable training opportunity for the industry; to enable us to re-invest back into industry and society and to support our future generation of young engineers.

This is your opportunity to sign up early, take advantage of the early bird sponsorship rates and be a prime example of industry collaboration to deliver a first-class conference for the industry. Any surplus funds get reinvested to help support the future of our young engineers.
