

Petroleum Economics Conference 2018

CALL FOR ABSTRACTS

SPE's "Petroleum Economics 2018" is the first economic conference of its kind dedicated to the full cycle of reservoir discovery, project sanction and final investment decision criteria, and tax implications in the UK.

The strong program will attract interest and support from Operators, Financial Service Companies, Academia and the Regulator and will provide opportunities for business planners, economists and engineers to come together and share knowledge.

The Conference will take place in Aberdeen this December (date tbc) and the Call for Abstracts is open. The committee are looking for:

- Case studies on Joint Venture parties on running open book economics to gain alignment
- Case studies on Tax Transfer History and its impact on asset sales in the UK
- SECR and its impact on the investable projects in the UK

If you have experiences to share then we invite you to submit a short 200 word abstract for presentations of 25 minutes indicating the title, presenter and company affiliation to aberdeen.events@spe-uk.org.

For any queries, contact the Events Team on 01224 646311.
